

AT BUFFALO.

Sheriff Beck Sees No Cause for Alarm.

The Presence of the State Militia Has Aged the Strikers,

But the Car Wheels Are Not Turning—Public Sentiment Now Siding With the Sheriff That the Calling of Troops was Needless.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 19.—A dispatch from Toronto states that the Grand Trunk switchmen have gone out and tied up the road from Toronto to Montreal.

It is a noticeable fact that it is not the switchmen who are giving the police and military trouble in the railroad yards. The idle riff-raff of Buffalo, the loungers and idlers and police court customers are furnishing all of that article that is to be found.

Under orders, the strikers are remaining away from the scenes of their former labors. But at every possible point are collected these idlers and curious people, who, by their jeering and flouting, incense the guards, and give the impression that riotous feeling exists among the railroad men.

About midnight a mob congregated just outside of the city limits, where the Elmira soldiers were stationed. A demonstration was begun by a burly loafer swearing at the soldiers and imitating their call for corporal of the guard. A striker met one of the pickets and a bayonet was used with perceptible effect.

When the mob realized that the militia would not be trifled with it dispersed. Brig-Gen. Doyle has ordered an increase in the number of soldiers at Lancaster.

At 9 o'clock Thursday night Sgt. Lambrecht, of the Eleventh precinct, arrested two strikers named James Hanley and Wm. Clark, for assaulting non-union switchmen. Clark, on the way to the station-house, made a desperate effort to escape, and succeeded in injuring the officer. He was finally locked up.

But one freight train was moved by the N. Y. L. and W. and Lehigh Valley railroads Thursday. At 7:30 o'clock a thirty-five car train was started over the Erie and had not been molested by strikers when it had reached a distance of twenty-five miles from the city.

The massing of the troops at Cheektawga, the strike of the Nickel-Plate switchmen and the accidental killing of another soldier were the events of the weary day. There is a strong feeling in the public mind that the calling out of the whole state militia was unnecessary and uncalled for. It was brought about through the insistence of the railroad attorneys, who bulldozed Sheriff Beck into signing the telegram to the governor. He had been advised by his attorneys, Messrs. Tabor, Sheehan, Cuneen and Coatsworth, to make no demand on the governor, as the situation did not warrant the mobilization of the whole national guard.

Now that the excitement of the incendiary has partly died out, most people are inclined to agree with the sheriff and the county's attorney that it is a needless step and an unnecessary expense. It appears that the sheriff was given to understand by the railroad attorney that he would be held personally liable for any further damage if he did not sign the telegram which had been prepared. "I have been all along the line of the strike to-day," said the sheriff, "and have not observed a single act of violence. If rioting should be resumed I should certainly call upon the governor for aid."

The New Star Appears Again. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—Prof. Edward S. Holden telegraphs from Lick observatory that the new star which appeared in constellation Auriga last February, and which faded to about fifteenth magnitude, so that it appeared very faint through the big telescope, was observed again by Prof. Schaeberle, Campbell and himself. He says the star was increased in brightness in surprising manner, being now of ten and one-half magnitude.

Webb Declines to Arbitrate. BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Third Vice-President H. Walter Webb, of the New York Central railroad, has written a response to the query of Hon. William Purcell, chairman of the board of mediation and arbitration, requesting to know if that corporation would consent to an adjustment of the existing difficulty with the switchmen. Webb says he knows of no trouble needing arbitration and declined the interference.

One of Them Confesses. NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 19.—Ben Duncan and Henry Carnegie, two lieutenants of Bunch and Hoppood, the noted southern bandits, have been captured and jailed in Frankfort (La.) jail. Duncan confessed that he was implicated in the Illinois Central robbery that occurred in the month of April. The present whereabouts of Bunch and Hoppood are not known.

Railroad Officials Diffident. BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Sheriff Beck said Thursday night that the railroad companies were disgracing him. "We have the state troops here to protect their property," he said. "Now they ought to put on men and get their trains out. They have made no move to do so to-day, and prospects are not bright for to-morrow."

An Organized Boycott. DUBUQUE, Ia., Aug. 19.—The Trades and Labor congress has declared a boycott against the Rhomburg Street Railway line on account of the company threatening to discharge motormen who joined the labor organizations.

Three Seconds Faster. CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 19.—Sportsmen here claim the rubber tire is three seconds faster than the kind Maud S used; that Nancy Hanks must, therefore, go three seconds better than Maud S to equal her.

LOOKS LIKE HAZELRIGG.

The Montgomery County Man Probably Wins the Race Easily.

The latest reports from Catlettsburg are to the effect that the nomination of Judge James H. Hazelrigg is almost a foregone conclusion. His forces organized the convention and took immediate control of things. The Hazelrigg delegates, it is said, are conducting the convention, while the Cole and Wilhoit men are simply spectators.

An estimate of the vote yesterday afternoon was Hazelrigg 101; Cole 38; Wilhoit 23.

The convention adjourned at 3 o'clock in order to give the committees time to report.

It is more than probable that Judge Hazelrigg will be the man whom the Democracy will offer as a sacrifice in the First Appellate District.

CRADDOCK came down Wednesday on his way to the Sharpsburg Fair, and seeing the Bluebell bus backed up to the train for passengers to the Baptist Association, jumped in for a free ride to the fair as he thought, and knew no better until just out of town the occupants began to inquire how far it was to Locust Grove. But he stuck it out.—Carlist Mercury.

"RAMCAT" HANRAHAN, the fellow who escapes from the Covington Work-house every once in a while made another effort to break away to liberty the other day. He succeeded in getting the other prisoners to bury him under the rocks that they were shoveling into the wagon. He was nicely covered up and the wagon was moving out, when Superintendent Wachs smelt a rat. He commanded the driver of the wagon to drive back, and to dump the load into the middle of the Work-house. Hanrahan let out a howl as he and the rock fell together in a crash. Superintendent Wachs had him put in a cell. It is only a few days ago that Hanrahan received a sentence of fifty days for escaping from the jail.

A CALIFORNIA horseman has invented a sulky which beats the kite-shaped track for lowering the record of trotting horses. This sulky winds up like a clock, and the machinery not only furnishes propulsion for the sulky, but carries the horse along. The driver sets the indicator at, say, the 32 notch, and in the horse will be good enough to keep out of the way the machine will get there on time. It will be seen, therefore, in making trotting records the horse becomes a matter of secondary importance. The sulky is everything. This gives the business of breeding trotting horses a black eye. The brand on the sulky will hereafter be looked to more carefully than the pedigree of the horse in the shafts.—N. Y. Advertiser.

The Baby Show.

In making up the program the fair management, by an oversight, neglected to insert the usual baby premium.

There was not the slightest intention that the babies should be left out.

The baby show will be one of the features of Thursday afternoon. The premium will be as follows:

Brightest, prettiest and best white baby 18 months old or under, $10.50.

Entries can be made to the Manager at Floral Hall.

The Minstrel's Last Night.

Washington Opera-house was well filled last night by an enthusiastic audience, the attraction being the Barlow Brothers' celebrated minstrel troupe.

It was also the first entertainment given under the management of the new lessees, Messrs. Edmiston & Kinneman.

The performance was all that had been claimed for it. It was a model of refined minstrelsy and specialty. All of the features were good and were presented in an admirable manner. The singing was good and the comedies first-class. The specialties were novel and pleasing.

The new managers are to be congratulated on their first presentation to a Maysville audience.

How the Engagement Was Broken.

"Where are my suspenders, maw?" shrieked a Jefferson avenue belle to her mother across their upstairs hall, says The Detroit Free Press.

"Your father borrowed them while I napped his," was the answer. "I can't find my four-in-hand tie." "Your brother wore it last night; you will find it in his room."

"But, maw, where is my silk yachting shirt?" "Algy wore it to the regatta."

There was a brief silence. Then the voice wailed across the hall again: "Maw, I can't find my riding trousers."

"Charles has them on," was the response. Then a tired-looking young man who had been waiting unannounced in the hall below rose up softly and stole away.

"She might want my boots next," he said wearily, and no one knows why their engagement is off.

THE FERN LEAF KILLING.

A Supposed Insult Said to Have Been the Motive for the Deed.

The causes which led to the killing of Fleming Williams by George Stroude at Fern Leaf before yesterday, are still somewhat mysterious.

It is said that the dead man had offered some insult to a sister of Stroude's, but his friends claim that if he ever made an indecent remark in her presence it was entirely unintentional, and had known that he was charged with such an offense he would most certainly have cleared himself.

The feeling which prompts a man to fight in defense of his home is admirable, but the wanton taking of a human life without even giving a chance for explanation or excuse is not consistent with any reasonable idea of avenging wounded honor.

It seems that the crowd was "guying" Stroude about some woman which added to his anger. Last night he had not yet been captured, though a reward has been offered for him.

The funeral of Williams took place this morning at 10 o'clock at Hebron Church.

Fair Week at the Opera-house.

The Gibney, Gordon & Gibney Comedy Company will begin a week's engagement Monday night at Washington Opera-house. Our citizens will remember they made such a "hit" here last season.

The company is stronger and better than ever, and will produce nothing but new and popular comedies. The Greensburg, Ind., papers endorse them by saying that "The Gibney, Gordon & Gibney Comedy Company opened at the Opera-house last night to a packed house in 'Love and Law'."

The singing, dancing and musical specialties were all new, the costumes bright, and taking it altogether, they are "one of a kind." See them and you won't regret it, as we consider it the best week-end show that ever visited Greensburg.

"Love and Law" Monday night. Seats on sale at Nelson's.

How a Millionaire Got His Start.

A San Francisco millionaire tells this story: "Ten years ago I stood without a nickel in my pocket outside of a restaurant door in San Francisco. I was indulging in an optical feast and wondering how all those good things in the window would taste if they were sliding down my hungry palate. I was trying to think how I could get the price of a meal, honestly or dishonestly, it mattered little."

Before I had evolved a plan of action a prosperous-looking man was flipping a half dollar in his hand dropped it through an iron grating, and it fell into the subway below. He gave an almost unconcerned glance in the direction the coin had gone and then walked away. It was a 'ground-hog' case for me, and I determined to secure that coin; so I walked into the restaurant and asked the proprietor if I might retrieve a $5 gold piece which I had dropped into the cellar. He replied: 'Certainly, and gave me a hatchet with which I might remove a wooden bar that had been nailed across a door leading from the basement to the opening under the grate.'

"There was much litter and dirt down there, and in searching for the coin I found many others, which had been dropped in a similar way. I cleaned up $8 from that drift, an amount sufficient to completely dwarf an able-bodied appetite, secure a clean shirt and a proportionate amount of self-esteem and reliance. I visited men of influence whom I had not sufficient courage to visit before, and I have not been seriously insolvent since that time. Thus you may see on what a slender thread often hangs a chance in life."

LOVED BLOOD.

The Butcher of the Borden Couple Gives Himself Up.

He Says He Killed Them Out of Pure Love for Blood.

Charles H. Peckham, of Central Villa, Westport, Mass., the Self-Confessed Murderer—Fall River Mystery Cleared Up—Lizzie Borden Free.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 19.—Charles H. Peckham, of Central Villa, Westport, Mass., walked into the Central police station Thursday morning and said to Assistant Marshal Fleet: "Well, Mr. Marshal, I killed Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Borden, and I have come from home to give myself up. I went over the back fence and through the rear door of the Borden house two weeks ago to-day and I killed both of those people out of pure love for blood. I went out the rear door and over the back fence and walked over the New Bedford road home. I'm the murderer, and I want to be locked up."

The marshal took him to the cell-room and searched him.

He found a pocket-book with a few receipts in it and also unearthed some official communications from the Russian bureau at Washington.

Peckham is 62 years of age, about 5 feet 6 inches tall and has a thin, gray beard. He says he leases a farm from Edmund Davis. The police have started to hunt up his relatives
